By CHARLES B. DEGGES

Hurley Lashes
U.S. Career Men
Before Probe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Sassy-haired Patrick J. Hurley, his voice flaring with anger, asserted yesterday two American career diplomats who favored "collaboration" of the present government of China had been given vital assignments with Gen. Douglas MacArthur after Hurley sent them home from the Embassy at Chungking.

ALSO, IN THE COURSE of 2½ hours of impassioned testimony before the Senate foreign relations committee, Maj. Gen. Hurley made three other major assertions:

1. Britain was espousing United States policy for the unification of China under Chiang Kai-shek.

2. Some of the career men in China supported an imperialistic line of powers and were willing to use leukostasis to subjugate peoples. He said the policy of the United States was to support the "imperialistic bloc" as consisting of Britain, France, the Netherlands, a few important states in Belgium and Portugal and, he said, Germany and Japan.

3. At the moment none of the big powers, Russia, the United States and Britain, is helping the Chinese Communists and without such help the Communists are not, in Gen. Hurley's opinion, a major threat to the control of China by Gen. Chiang.

GEN. HURLEY'S appearance before the committee was packed with drama from start to finish. He had resigned as ambassador with a blast at their department career men and he hammered home his criticisms of their "sabotage" of his efforts in China repeatedly. He named five men as having been "disloyal" to him.

Only "Few" Rebels

In Northern Iran

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
TEHRAN, Iran, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Iranian Premier Abolhasan Hakim said today there were only 200 "genuine" rebels in northern Iran and that the government was a statement declaring the Azerbaijan national assembly illegal.

Hakimi told foreign correspondents that the crisis in rebellious Azerbaijan province along the Russian border had arisen because there had been no general there for the last seven months.

The premier said he had no definite information on reports that the Russians had started drilling for oil in northern Iran.

"There are sinkings in the north but it is possible that the water which is scarce in the area," he said. "The sinkings have been made without the permission of the Iranian government."

The premier said he had "no intention of resigning despite many rumors."

Air Chief Sees Arctic as Atomic Attack Route

A network of advanced air bases as an essential Atomic Age defence against enemies who may strike across the Arctic as well as from other directions, is urged by Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commander, U.S. Strategic Air Forces. Warning that atomic, rocket and robot weapons combined with high-speed, far-traveling aircraft likely will meet the nation with the fastest and strongest offense AT THE START will win, he argues that defence will require ability to "obliterate" the enemy at his home before he can attack. General Spaatz suggests specific advance bases in the Far North and the Pacific, and at unspecified locations in the Atlantic, as indicated on the map above.

Mystery at Victoria

Milkmen, Taxis, Movers
Plague to Coast Woman

VICTORIA, Dec. 6.—(CP)—A nine-day-old mystery involving ordering of taxi cabs, telegraph boys, milkmen, moving trucks, and grocery men to the home of Mrs. R. M. Lally was climaxed yesterday when the woman's phone number was used in a newspaper advertisement about which she knows nothing.

THE MYSTERY is baffling city police who are investigating, and has Mrs. Lally worried sick.

She said that she "hasn't the faintest idea what it is all about," and could name no suspects.

"At first I had an idea that it was being done by school children," she said.

HER TROUBLES started Nov. 21 when six taxi cabs called at her house which had been ordered by phone, but not by Mrs. Lally. The same day a moving truck came to move her furniture. This also had been ordered by phone but was unknown to the surprised woman. The same day several strangers arrived at her home who claimed to have been invited for dinner.

Price of Defeat

German Moral Standard

BREMEN, Germany, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Part of the bitter price of defeat for the returning German soldier these days is the sight of the widespread capitulation of his womenfolk to the Allied armies of occupation.

Unemployment
To Be Solved
In Short Time

VICTORIA, Dec. 6.—(CP)—Confidence that adequate supplies would be made available in the next several months to absorb manpower now out of work was fostered by the province during war time.

THE PREMIER also announced that British Columbia would continue next year under a budgetary system similar to that now in force with the Dominion government providing $12,000,000 in lieu of the income and corporation taxes foregone by the province during war time.

While in Ottawa, Premier Hart made repeated representations to Mr. Howe and placed before the Dominion provincial cabinet a series of telegrams and briefs forwarded by various organizations and municipal bodies drawing attention to the serious unemployment situation in this province.

MR. HART said he also drew the attention of Dominion government authorities to the municipal construction works projects which might alleviate the unemployment situation and at the same time take care of various programs of long ordered public works.

He applied to Finance Minister Bailey for two per cent loans to municipalities from the Dominion government. Mr. Hart even offered to give the provincial government a guarantee of these loans.

MR. HART said he had referred to consider the application yesterday Mr. Hart learned by word from Mr. Bailey that the loan had been refused.

Textile Workers
Out on Strike

MONTREAL, Dec. 6.—(CP)—A third plant of Dominion Textile Company, Ltd., became strike-bound today as 600 workers at the east-end Hochelaga mill failed to report for duty this morning, following a decision at a mass meeting last night. This action brought the number of striking workers to 1,800, including the 1,200 who stopped work at the Mount Royal and Mercier mills Tuesday morning.

Pickets were reported on duty at the company's three major mills early today, and no disturbances were anticipated.

THE WORKERS in the three mills are members of Local 102, U.T.W.A. (A.P.), and are striking in protest of increased tasks which accompanied increased wages in the Montreal mills.

Employees of the Mount Royal and Mercier mills ceased work Tuesday afternoon.

There has been a tremendous increase in several departments of the British medical effort in Berlin estimated the average "RD" rate among German women in that city to be 25 per cent. In some areas it was as high as 30 per cent.

The routine questions, "Are you married?" "Have you any children?" are as often answered with a "yes" to the last and "no" to the first as the other way around. The shrug of the shoulders by women refugees endlessly moving over Germany with their children is the question "Where is the father?" often means that she does not know where he is or sometimes who he is.

MANY WOMEN who have lost their husbands and are left with young children, feel that the only hope for them is somehow to get out of Germany. Many feel that the only chance of survival for their babies is the chance here, soup, or food that British and American cigarettes will buy.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW

By Jack DeLong

PARDON, folks, if we appear to take a rather dim view of things today. But why, oh why did those lovely Regina Caps select our Flyers for the game that gave them their first point in this Western Canada Hockey League?

Perhaps we're a bit hazy though in denoting the sub-optimal skill. According to the Canadian Press reports of the game in Saskatchewan's capital city last evening our Flyers could have done worse than pull out a few even better. They could have lost that game and should have lost it, according to the Regina account.

At any rate Riley Muller's lady has a chance to get even with the Caps at the arena rink come next Monday evening.

Go get 'em Flyers.

IN SPORT, As in all human endeavor the kids who go around for you today are the seedlings of tomorrow.

Take the Edmonton Junior Hockey League for example. Quite a few of the youngsters now chasing pucks out at that open-air rink on 19th street will be chasing the rubber with more finesse, possibly, but no greater enthusiasm, at the arena in less time than we like to contemplate.

Young Stan Patterson, who helped himself to four scoring points as juvenile, has developed the Southlanders the other night, has the makings according to all reports.

This will be Stan's last season as a juvenile. Next season he should be clearly adding to the junior ranks.

THEN THERE'S Eric Peterson, the star goalie with Canadians, Jim Stewart, Jack Sirois, Dennis Smith and Ron Phillips, all given a chance to juvenile ranks this season who performed with great dash for Canadian Alberta middle championship last season.

We'll give you more data on these and members of other juvenile league teams as the season develops.

The trade, however, was reported to have turned down the veteran Wally Mays and asked for Ted Wright or Thurman Tucker.

The trade here such rumors around as:

2. Bidding by both Detroit Tigers and the White Sox for second-baseman Ray Mark of Cleveland.

Ken McAuley Stars In Nets For Edmonton

Regina Caps won their first point in league competition last night when they played to a 2-2 draw with Edmonton Flyers in a Western Canada Senior League fixture.

The game was a heart-breaker for Kenny Stewart and his Capitals who built up a wide margin on the play most of the game and were bailed of their first victory of the year when two disputed goals were called back on them.

Caps badly needed the goal, too, because they were up against a famous figure in Ken McAuley, Edmonton netminder.

McAULEY, STARTING at a hot clip in the scores opening period, got better as he went along and drove the Capitals to a 2-2 draw.

He was clearly beaten when Les Barrett fired in the opening goal. At several other times McAuley was unbeatable. The two exceptions to the rule came when Pete Vogt fired an angle shot that seemed to glance off the goalie's pads midway through the first, but McAuley, overruled Regina coach.

LATE IN THE THIRD Stewart snared a loose puck behind the Capitals' net and snatched the goal that appeared to drop into the goal after McAuley had been working hard to keep the Capitals out.

Once again he and the goal judge shrugged off Cap protest.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By W. M. GLADISH

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—(CP)—Death of Ottawa's beloved Iroquois in his 75th year might serve to revive the bitter word "shamateurism" which periodically sweeps Canada's sport world. Foran was the champion of the principle that a professional in a sport could be an amateur in other athletic activities and was a energetic opponent of the heavily paid "once a pro, always a pro" who espoused the cause of the amateur. Foran was a member of the Canadian Federation of Canada, a member of the Ontario combination of the "free amateur" movement of some 40 years ago in opposition to the visionary amateurism led by James G. Merritt.

THE FEDERATION did not, of course, although tentatively recommended by the AAU of the United States, but the Foran policy probably had as much to do with the amateur downfall of the Canadian AAU as any other factor. The Foran conception of amateurism flared, for instance, in the case of the Elinowitz case of a few years ago when Toronto's famous amateur baseball player was played out of amateur football for Ottawa Rough Riders. Foran's Ottawa Rough Riders couldn't understand why Elinowitz shouldn't play for Riders. Elinowitz AAU of C lost

FORAN'S PRINCIPLE kept International Lacrosse Union apart from amateur union while the F. H. Hockey League, which ended on a semi-pro basis, usually the start of the pro era early in the century. In activities, Foran did not create a competitor was amateur as long as he came clean declaration of standing. He was in his denunciation of bribery and perjury in sport. Now it can be said Billy Foran to see the day when his

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

DURING the years ahead of us there will be many opportunities for the Canadian Legion to carry out their avowed intention of carrying on the tradition of service, symbolized by the white crosses which mark the graves of those who died in battle, and of looking after the welfare of those who bore the battle.

AT THE PRESENT time the Canadian Legion has a membership of more than a quarter of a million. If all those who served as volunteers in this war join the Legion, as they are qualified to do, its membership will be nearly one million. With such a membership, actively interested in carrying on the tradition of unselfish service, it should be a powerful force for good in Canada.

The opportunity of the Legion to serve Canada will be greatly enhanced if its various branches will make every effort, at every opportunity, to cooperate with every other organization which is interested in the welfare of the immediate community and Canada as a whole. On the other hand, should the Legion carry out its purpose, it will not attempt to set itself apart from other organizations in the country's various communities. It will not itself hampered and opposed at every turn.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that many people are not only the social side of the Legion's many activities. And for this reason they are not interested in it, or the future of it, as they should be. It should be kept in mind that the social side of the Legion is at least important. All members of the Legion should remember, and impress upon their friends, that the Legion's job is to care for

Veterans Get First Priority For Hospital

Returned to Office A. Allen Again Chairman Civic Democratic Alliance

On Wednesday morning 15 veterans' services undergoing treatment at the Colonel McEwen Pavilion were transferred to the central building of the former Edmonton military hospital, known as the Jean-Jacques, at 114 avenue and 128 street.

The hospital, according to a Department of Veterans' Affairs spokesman Thursday, is under the control of military authorities of M.D. 15, headquarters Calgary, and the army medical people have indicated they are anxious to co-operate with the veterans' affairs officials by providing accommodation for those returned men who require it.

"I can say with some confidence," the official said, "that our problem of hospitalization for veterans is solved—and I don't think there will be any veteran deprived of a hospital bed to provide one for an Indian."

An official from the Calgary army headquarters stated that definite word had been received in Calgary that the hospital would be at the disposal of military medical officials until at least Jan. 29, and that none but military or veteran patients would be admitted to it.

THE PROPOSED use of this hospital has been a storm center since the announcement from Ottawa that it would be used as a hospital for tubercular Indian. Strong protests from the Canadian Legion and civic organizations have been appearing to be adamant.

Turning over to department of national health for use by the military, except that four of the redwood buildings which surround it would be converted into suites for veteran housing.

A. ARNOLD, local superintendent for the national housing administration, was given the key Wednesday morning to the four buildings which are still to be used to help in relieving the housing situation, and hopes for word from Ottawa within two or three days to proceed with the necessary alterations, which will make 24 suites available to returned men.

Archie Allen was re-elected chairman of the Civic Democratic Alliance at a meeting, which was attended by more than 100 members, held in the Labor Hall Wednesday night. Mr. Allen and Miss Beatrice Fernebaugh, general secretary, were re-elected by acclamation. Mayor Harry Ainlay reported on activities in the Civic Block since election day, and Mrs. E. S. Hayes outlined developments on the school board.

To Speak Here

Brig. Churchill C. Mann, O.B.E., D.S.O., who was chief of the Canadian Army general staff during operations in Northwestern Europe, will speak at a Canadian Club luncheon to be held at the Macdonald hotel on Friday.

Office to Tell of Canadian Army

The part played by the First Canadian Army in Northwest Europe will be the subject of an address to be given here by Brig. Churchill C. Mann, O.B.E., D.S.O., at a Canadian Club luncheon to be held at the Macdonald hotel Friday, Dec. 7.

Brigadier Mann was one of General G. H. D. Cresser's principal staff officers, and commanded the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade for some time before being appointed chief of staff, First Canadian Army, post he held until after the cessation of hostilities.

Seek Formation New Civic Board

Recommendation will be made to city council by its finance committee that the Edmonton sinking fund board as at present constituted be dissolved, and that it be replaced by a board consisting of three permanent civic officials.

The committee is recommending that the necessary charter amendments be sought at the next session of the legislature to permit the change being made effective.

The city commissioners at the last meeting of city council recommended that the change be made, and gave as a reason for the change that there are no funds vested in sinking fund board with the exception of the city's reserves. They claimed there was no need for the board as presently constituted.

The committee will recommend also that for the time being no further civic assisted building schemes be undertaken until present objects have been completed, and any reconstruction schemes should not interfere to any great extent with material supplies for other projects.

November Not Average Month For Weather

November was cold—and most Edmonton residents will bear this statement out without the confirmation released by the Edmonton weather bureau on Thursday.

Although no records were established by the thermometer's downward sweep the bureau statement shows that the month was anything but an average one.

November 1935, when the mercury receded to 39 degrees below zero, was 11.5 points lower than last month's coldest of 17.2.

There was less sunshine than in normal years and less snow, but heavier rainfall than is usual during the month. Average hours of sunshine for a 30-year period was 96, but last November showed just 23. Average snowfall is eight inches, not the four which fell in the thirty days just ended.

Circulation figures of the Department of economic affairs and trade and industry's brochure, "Your Opportunity in Alberta," are reaching the dimensions of a best seller. As originally published the brochure (H. A. J. Hoake and H. C. H. Gier) anticipated a circulation of 10,000 but the number has been exhausted. A second impression of 10,000 copies is now being prepared.

FROM EVERY PROVINCE in Canada and almost every state of the United States, orders have been received to the number of between 1,200 and 1,400. It is still too early to feel the reaction in other countries, although copies were sent to the United Kingdom and Ireland, European countries and positions to consider trade expansion, India, South American states and others.

Numbers of additional copies requested by individual offices range from one to 1,000 in one instance. The request is usually accompanied by complimentary comments on the publication, come from railway companies, airlines, here and in the United States, from many city clerk and officers of commerce, boards of trade and other agencies, from individuals asking to have copies sent to friends.

FROM COMMERCE FROM sailors, officers and army and army discharge—one in the U.S. army—and from school children, prompt letters from their teachers. One of G. N. Tucker.

Guest speakers of the evening was Mr. Justice Koenig of the Alberta supreme court.

Medical Academy Elects Officers

Edmonton medical men at a meeting of the Edmonton Academy of Medicine held in the Macdonald hotel on Wednesday evening elected Dr. G. M. Little, city medical officer of health to be president for the coming year.

Vice-presidents elected were Dr. Gordon Sealow and Dr. J. A. G. Tucker.

Dr. E. F. Donald was elected treasurer and Dr. A. H. McLennan, secretary. Other members of the executive committee were Dr. W. A. Anderson, Dr. Kenneth Hamilton and Dr. G. N. Tucker.

The business of the evening was Mr. Justice Koenig of the Alberta supreme court.

Dental Service To Be Provided For War Vets

Centralization of dental work for veterans who needed dental care at government expense was announced Thursday morning by J. W. Proctor, district administrator of national health.

DR. W. S. AGARWAL, who has been in charge of the dental clinic at the Colonel McEwen Pavilion of the University of Alberta, will be moving on Monday to the Redwood building where he will coordinate work to civilian dentists, with some effort to have dental work performed by returned men by service dentists who have responded offers to do dental work for the veterans in the district.

IT HAS BEEN necessary in the past for veterans who needed dental work done and who were entitled to have it performed at the expense of the government due to their war services to furnish the name of the dentist they wished to work for in the district.

Under the new arrangements dental records for all discharged men are maintained in the offices in the Redwood building for all veterans in this district.

THE CLINIC in the Colonel McEwen Pavilion will continue to operate, but will be primarily concerned with dental work for military patients.

South Beauticians Plan Oppose Code

Leithridge beauticians will oppose any steps to bring on a code for the control of beauty parlors, a member of the executive of the Alberta Beauticians' Association told the Edmonton branch's meeting Tuesday night.

He told the meeting he had attended a meeting of the Leithridge branch and had feared that members there intended to tell the minister of trade and industry, Hon. C. G. Gertart, that they were satisfied with present conditions, but they would unite with the body of the association in opposing a code if any further steps were taken to bring one into effect.

It is understood that a draft set of beauty parlors regulations already being prepared and will be discussed by the association before being submitted to the government.

In succession to Mrs. Irma Shady, who is leaving Edmonton for Victoria, B.C., was elected vice-president of the local branch.

Commerce Official To Discuss Canada Exports to Belgium

Bruce A. Macdonald, commercial secretary in Belgium, will be a visitor in Edmonton on Friday, Dec. 7, to discuss with the body of the association in discussing problems connected with exporting to Belgium. He will be registered at the Macdonald hotel.

Interested firms or individuals wishing to have an interview with Mr. Macdonald, are requested to call on Thursday, Dec. 6, at the office of the association, 500 Canadian Bank of Commerce building, where he is in charge of arrangements.

Plans are being made by the CIA for Mr. Macdonald to visit a number of manufacturing plants in the city.

Library Facilities To Be Surveyed

A meeting of the library survey committee, which is surveying the provincial government, was held in the city on Wednesday, Dec. 5.

It was decided to conduct an intensive survey of the Leithridge region, and to report on existing facilities and on other parts of the province. On the basis of this survey, definite recommendations will be made for the encouragement, co-ordination and extension of library service in Alberta.

Hugh C. Gourlay, librarian of the Edmonton Public Library, is chairman of the committee. Alexander Calhoun was appointed general consultant. Miss M. G. Lock, librarian of the University of Alberta and Mrs. Frank Gough, librarian of the Leithridge Public Library, is directing the survey in that city.

Amateur Radio Men Plan Meet

Persons interested in the development of amateur radio as a hobby are invited to attend a meeting of the Northern Alberta Radio Club, in the Masonic Temple building, at 10:00 o'clock on Wednesday, Dec. 11.

This will be the first meeting of the organization since its formation following the wartime ban on amateur radio. Discussion is expected to center mainly on amateur radio, with emphasis on its importance in the Northwest.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

THE MOTHER who is having trouble getting her young child to eat unless he is waited on hand and foot, or lavishly entertained, should try some of the methods so as to help the child become more independent of her.

At 18 months to two years the child is able to feed himself. He is able to encircle his cup with his two small fingers and suck with the same satisfaction as if he had a bottle in his hands.

Despite these abilities, he is intensely interested in what goes on around him. A sudden sound out of doors, the activity of the kitchen, another child's voice or antics, the unaccounted presence of strangers will so divert the child's attention that he cannot eat a bit. This is the time when the mother should give him more attention and thus accomplish her aim of getting him to eat his meal.

If possible, during this period of easy distraction, the child should eat by himself and in a quiet room. He may not eat a half hour before the family eats, so that he can finish up his dessert with them and be spared the confusion of too many persons at the table. The less he sees or hears the better he will be able to concentrate on the task before him.

He may need an occasional spoonful from the mother, but ordinarily if he is busy with her concerns and he will be able to do a better job of eating than if he is watching and hurrying each meal.

Put before the child the food he is to eat at the moment, and keep the milk and dessert out of sight. He is too apt to drink lots of milk and to leave his solid foods and dessert is always a temptation.

GIVE HIM SMALL PORTIONS. He can always have more. Large heaps of food on the plate discourage him. He has a small pile of bread or a silver of raw vegetable in his hand, he can eat better, because with only one hand free he won't mess the food up.

If he wants to spend 20 or 45 minutes at a meal, let him. He may be slow and messy but he will get the help himself if he has the opportunity to do so.

Our little one, 4½, "Teaching the Use of Cup and Spoon" may be had by mail from the author, Myrtle Meyer Eldred, who has addressed correspondence with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Why Grow Old?

The normal blood pressure rises between the ages of 15 and 20. It is too low, then the patient has arterial hypertension, or low blood pressure. Certainly, when the blood pressure falls below 90, then the patient is likely to develop those symptoms characteristic of this condition, which advise him that all is not well within his organism.

Low blood pressure is a fairly common finding and probably those out of every 100 people have it; however, a striking exception to this general figure is found in certain occupational groups. In any working group where the daily occupational imposes little activity and encourages shallow breathing, a much larger number of people will be found to have developed low blood pressure. For example, bank clerks are especially prone to arterial hypertension. Undoubtedly, the way that individual habitually lives has a great deal to do with the arterial pressure, and in that way of living must be included the kind of work done and the amount of exercise usually taken.

While a moderately low blood pressure may exist in people who seem to enjoy a fair state of health, it is nevertheless true that such a condition is a moderate well as long as life remains quiet and calm, they feel fairly well. But when a physical or mental strain is imposed upon them, they are unable to meet the strain and withdraw from it. A limited physical capacity and they therefore become tired and exhausted, and this condition would not prove so exhausting if it were not for the low blood pressure. They are unable to stand as much, and as a general rule, above a tendency to withdraw from active, competitive effort.

However, the encouraging factor is that the individual past 40 with low blood pressure has a better life expectancy than the one with high blood pressure.

High blood pressure may be rightly defined as a sign of lowered vitality. The vital forces of the body are not working as well as they should be. The lowered vitality is clearly seen if careful study of the patient is made. For example, the average patient with low blood pressure has a poorly developed chest, which is narrow and shallow instead of wide and deep. Very rarely the condition of the blood is below par and a mild, low-grade anemia is a frequent finding. The condition which the body is generally fairly and relaxed, and the patient is underweight, indicating that patients with low blood pressure are generally in good health and are in good luck.

You might place such a patient in the "almshouse class," the digestion is almost good enough, the physical capacity for sustained effort is almost normal without quite being up to normal standard; the oxygen supply is almost sufficient, even the blood vessels are almost normal in strength and tone but will not do as much as they should. The condition which would raise the arterial tension 10 or 20 points.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoys Health Service, The McCoys Building, 1131 West 8th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

"We would have to have a sister who keeps her diary in shorthand!"

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

A DATE WITH YOU IS A SPECIAL EVENT

A date is pretty important. This certain joy has a free evening. Some money to spend. And he knows it's a good time. So of all the girls he knows, he picks you to have it with him. That makes you pretty important too!

THIS DOESN'T mean playing hard to get. Or acting as if you're doing the girl a favor. Nobody . . . not even a perfect good . . . appreciates those tactics. No, making a date special means being enthusiastic when he invites you. Looking too drawn when he arrives. And making him feel he's wanted to come.

When Jimmie streams up to you, you think special.

These slip-covers can transform your room. Instructions 7186 has step-by-step directions for slip-covers for varied chairs and sofas. Send 50c in coins for this pattern (stamp cannot be accepted) to The Edmonton Bulletin, Household Arts Dept., 60 Front Street W., Toronto 4, Ont. Print plainly name, address, number, please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

WHEN HE ASKS you to find out what his plans are and what time

he'll be around. And if he can't be definite, you be helpful. Suggest the movie at the Strand you've been hounding to see. Or a night at the rink with him to lean on. Or a merry boat ride across the river. You'll want a fair idea of what you want to do so you can get dressed for it. If he has no ideas, I'm sure you have.

Wash home from school and put up your hair. Lay out the clothes you're going to wear. And fit your bath and dressing routine around the crowded dinner schedule. You'll want enough time for polish on your shoes and careful face-making: flannel flapping; and scent to kind your ears. A date is a special occasion . . . so dress up for it.

WASHING BRINGS us to the most important part of any date. The having-a-good-time department. And he doesn't want to listen while you talk about the other joys you date. He doesn't want to hold your hand while you sit in Sphinx-like silence. He wants some fun . . . a little gay talk and laughter. He wants a pair of willing ears, yours, listening intelligently while he spouts about . . . well, practically anything. He doesn't care for empty gossip. Or an evening's monologue by you. He wants you to think he's a great guy. And of course you will. Which is why a date with you is something pretty special . . . something for the memory book.

Minute Make-Ups

Put some color in your life! A big red handkerchief gives you a pair of wings. Match it with your lips and fingertips. Put a big blue line in the sockets of your dinner suit and wear blue eyeshadow to match. It's the little Color Notes that put you in harmony!
